DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-52 have been examined.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-52 are rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as unpatentable over Mori(US Pat. No: 6,044,363) in view of Dinwoodie(US Pat. No: 6,415,269) and further in view of Friedland(US Pat. No: 6,449,601).
4. As per claims 1-52 Mori teaches a method of communicating information within an auction for a note pertaining to a selected aspect of an auction(Abstract)(Figs 4-7)(col 2 line 6-col 3 line 15) and where a selected aspect comprises an item offered by the auction(Fig 2/11) and with associating the note with multiple aspects of the auction(Fig 3)(Fig 7) and a menu of the predetermined note types for user selection(Fig 9) as well as displaying a graphic icon adjacent to the text(Fig 3/219) and an auction expiration time(Fig 12/916).Dinwoodie teaches a network based auction(Abstract)(Fig 1) as well as the selected method comprising a user of the networked based auction(Fig 2/40) as well as when the administrator is prompted to display the selected aspect of the online auction(Fig 3) and the interface prompts for a user identifier(Fig 2/48/54/50).

Art Unit: 3624

Friedland teaches the calling of note functions from any one of a selected aspect of the on line auction(Fig 1) as well as an item identifier(Fig 7)(Fig 10/1010). It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to combine Mori in view of Dinwoodie to teach part of the above. The motivation to combine is to teach an interactive auction system to permit remote bidders to participate in a networked based auction process as enunciated by Dinwoodie(col 2 lines 14-29). It would also have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to combine Mori in view of Dinwoodie and further in view of Friedland to teach all of the above. The motivation to combine is to teach an interactive real time, live auction conducted by a live auctioneer over the Internet to said remote bidders as enunciated by Friedland(col 2 line 65-col 3 line 2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 1-52 are further rejected under 35 USC 112(2nd) for failing to distinctly and precisely claim what applicant regards is the invention.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE NON-FINAL.
